
SOME TIME AGO this column held a sort of mythical "contest" in which an attempt was made to pick the most horrible intersection in town, from a traffic viewpoint, that is.

The "winner" by a fender-bender or two, was the Campbell Ave.-Bascom Ave. monstrosity.

You may recall that this particular intersection which was crowned the victor in the contest scored high on several fronts (and backs also).

Its chief claim to fame (?) is that it is probably the only intersection in the entire area in which a motorist must make a right then a left turn (or vice versa) to go straight ahead...It's all legal, too.

Meanwhile while in the process of doing this adroit piece of mobile open-field running, he generally has to dodge some party who is blithely making a left turn from Campbell Ave. onto Bascom.

At the time of the "contest", it was explained that while the person who was making the jog and the jig to go straight ahead legally had the right-of-way.

But the party making the turn onto Bascom was probably in a more healthy position, to use the term advisedly.

LATE ENTRIES in the ensuing months in the contest threatened the Campbell-Bascom position.

Such stalwart contenders as Bascom-Hamilton; Hamilton-Winchester and Budd-Winchester (before signals) got into the race.

But only briefly.

In recent weeks there really has been no contest. Bascom-Campbell has really widened the gap.

INSTALLATION of a pipe-line by San Jose Water Works along Bascom has not added to the joys of motoring on that street or at the intersection.

But actually despite the hazards caused by the torn-up conditions and the road blocks, there probably have not been any more frustrations or fender-benders than before the construction started.

And without an auto agency

Campbell tops Los Gatos in taxable sales in quarter

Even without any automobile agencies, the largest single source of sales tax revenue, Campbell has forged into sixth place among all the cities of the county in taxable sales.

And Campbell is in a unique situation.

Of the 10 leading cities in the county in taxable sales, Campbell has the dubious distinction of the only one without an auto agency.

For the first time in history taxable retail sales in a single quarter in Campbell have exceeded such sales in Los Gatos.

Taxable sales are those on which the four-cent sales tax is collected and one cent goes into the coffers of the cities.

That was revealed this week by the report issued by the State Board of Equalization for the third quarter of 1966 which showed that during that period Campbell's sales totalled $10,835,000.

In the same quarter, the taxable sales in Los Gatos came to $10,800,000.

SIXTH PLACE

By passing Los Gatos, Campbell took sixth place among all the cities in the county in total sales, topped only by San Jose ($165,433,000); Palo Alto ($44,874,000); Santa Clara ($40,478,000); Mountain View ($33,334,000) and Sunnyvale ($32,461,000).

Campbell's sales increased in the third quarter over the second quarter by $367,000 while Los Gatos showed a decrease in the same period of $755,000.

As has been in the case in previous periods, more than 50% of the taxable sales in Los Gatos are accounted by auto dealers and auto supplies.

Of the total sales of $10,800,000 in Los Gatos, the car category had $5,755,000, a decrease of $573,000 in sales from the previous quarter.

NO DEALERS

What makes Campbell's total so impressive is that this city has no automobile dealer and only $91,000 of the total sales comes from auto supplies. Los Gatos lists 13 outlets in the auto field while in Campbell there are six that are listed on auto supplies only.

Campbell's two main sources of retail sales are in the home furnishings and building material fields.

Led by Breuner's in the home furnishings area, the total sales in Campbell in this category in the third quarter came to $2.195,000, a gain of $319,000 over the second quarter. This area only accounted for $353,000 in the Los Gatos area which was down $55,000 from the previous report.

Although building material outlets showed a slight decline in sales in Campbell in the third quarter from the second ($75,000), this category accounted for $2,019,000 while in Los Gatos the total in this field was $283,000.

FOOD OUTLETS

Total sales in the food outlet area in Campbell reached a new high in the third quarter with $988,000 compared to food sales of $854,000 in Los Gatos. Campbell's sales jumped $47,000 in the third period over the second while in Los Gatos the increase was only $18,000. In Campbell 16 such outlets are listed compared to 19 in Los Gatos.

Of the 10 top cities of the county that were listed in the report Campbell's sixth place record is impressive for Campbell is the only city of the 10 without an auto agency.

In Cupertino, for example, with total sales of $6,003,000, the auto category totalled $912,000. In Gilroy with total sales of $5,644,000, autos accounted for $1,685,000 and in Los Altos with a total of $7,520,000 the car category showed $1,080,000.

The report lists nine drug stores in Campbell and 12 in Los Gatos. Los Gatos showed $368,000 in sales while Campbell had $270,000. Sales in this field in both cities showed a slight drop in the third quarter from the second.

"Eating and drinking places" in Los Gatos came to $754,000 in the third period compared to Campbell's $652,000. Campbell lists 34 such places and Los Gatos has 35.

Both cities were topped by Los Altos in this field, however.. Although Los Altos lists only 29, they accounted for $975,000 in sales in that city.

Council gives nod

Campbell Ave. plan gets ok

Improvement of Campbell Ave. from Winchester Blvd. to the railroad tracks will follow the plan of "Proposition No. 2" which calls for the widening of the street to the present plan line to allow for four moving traffic lanes.

The cost for the project is estimated at $309,527.

Actual construction of the street improvements will probably take place in the fiscal year of 1968-69 when adequate gas tax funds are available.

But prior to the street work, storm drains will be installed and that project is scheduled for this year.

That was the decision of the City Council Monday night by a divided 4-1 vote (Councilman Charles Rose dissenting) and followed the recommendation of the Downtown Redevelopment Committee, headed by John Faber.

In adopting the general concept as outlined in Proposition II, the council specified that the improvement of the street would be based on a joint city-property owners participation in the total cost.

According to preliminary figures presented by Bill Wren, public works director, the city's cost of the project would be approximately $145,428 and the owners' share would come to $164,099.

Wren also indicated that the property owners would pick up the tab for the needed right-of-way acquisition ($59,374), undergrounding of utilities ($75,600) and street lighting ($29,125).

Under this plan, there would be no parking on Campbell Ave. between First and Harrison avenues and in the short one-block area just

The tower when completed will rise 65-feet in the air and will be topped by a cross approximately 10-feet high. The tower, which will house the electronic chimes, is separate from the main structure (in background) which will be 110-feet square and will accomodate 1200 persons, almost twice the size of the present church.

Publisher heads C.of C. for 1967

A newspaper editor-publisher, a banker and a Certified Public Accountant have been elected by the directors as president, vice-president and treasurer respectively of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce for 1967

The officers and their fellow directors will be installed at the C. of C. annual dinner-dance at the Villa Felice on Friday, Jan. 27. Judge Richard W. (Dusty) Rhodes will again be the installing officer.

At the annual event, the "man-of-the-year" will be announced and awarded a plaque.

George Vierhus, editor and publisher of The Campbell Press since 1956, was elected president to succeed Dick Hardy, of the Ainsley Corporation, who has handled the C. of C. gavel for the past 18 months. Hardy succeeded to the presidency in July, 1965 after Ron Tharp, of IBM, had been transferred. Hardy will serve during 1967 as an ex-officio board member.

Vierhus was elected a director in 1965 for a two-year term.

Harry Lind, manager of First Valley Bank, was elected vice-president by the directors. Lind was named vice-president in July of last year when Gene Kelley, of First National Bank, resigned to take a position in Iowa.

Lind was also elected to a two-year term as director in 1965.

Robert Bullard, CPA, was elected treasurer. He succeeds to the position held by Bill Oltmann, local public accountant, for a number of years. Oltmann retired this year after serving many years as a director. Bullard, who has his accountant's office at 65 W. Hamilton, Campbell, was elected to the board for a two-year term in December.

Bullard was one of the seven directors elected

Editorial

Our own "Congress"

We cannot urge you too strongly to attend Campbell's first "Congress for Community Progress" which will be held at the West Valley College on Monday, Feb. 13.

As that day is a school holiday, the facilities of the college have been made available for the "congress".

This project is the most ambitious ever undertaken locally. The objective is to give the citizens an opportunity to explore the varied problems that confront this community and to outline the goals through discussion groups that will make this a better community in which to live and work.

Seven major areas have been outlined for discussion based on the tabulation of the answers to the questionnaire that was distributed to residents of the community.

These areas include, traffic and transportation; youth opportunity; industrial and commercial development; health and welfare; Campbell's improved image; education and local governmental service.

Panels composed of five members, including a moderator and an expert in each particular field, will direct the discussion in each field.

The panels will meet separately and then the "congress" in its final assembly will hear Congressman Charles Gubser as the keynote speaker.

The Chamber of Commerce and the City of Campbell are joint sponsors of this first attempt locally to get a real "grass roots" reaction to the problems and goals of this community.

Larry Hill, a director of the Chamber of Commerce and superintendent of the high school district is general chairman and Bob Stephens, city manager, is the coordinator.

Approximately 50 civic leaders are taking active parts in organizing and planning this outstanding community program.

But the "congress" is not organized just for those 50 people.

To be successful the "congress" must have the active participation of residents who may now be uninformed of the problems, issues and goals of the community.

The "congress" will provide an outstanding opportunity for all the people in the community to get better acquainted with the facts of life about their own area and as a result become better citizens.

One of the basic fundamentals for a progressive community is a well-informed citizenry and the "congress" will provide the information many of you have been seeking.

But no matter how well organized Campbell's first "congress" is, or how well planned, the success of this worthwhile program can only be measured by the number of people who attend and participate in the discussions.

The seven areas have been set up for panel discussions touch on every segment of community life so that every resident can find something in which he or she is vitally concerned.

We are enthusiastic about this first real attempt in Campbell of bringing the problems of our community right to the people.

It should give us all a better understanding of the basic issues and, in addition, we anticipate that a surprising number of worthwhile suggestions will develop that will make the goals of our community easier to reach.

We repeat, however, that without the active participation of a representative group of residents in the "congress" the program will not be of any value to the community.

Every resident of this community has a stake in its operation. It is up to the individual to take an active interest.

But no one can be forced into doing this. No gun is being held on a person to make him participate in civic affairs.

The problems that will be discussed at the "congress" and the objectives that will be outlined can provide a guideline for those who direct the destiny of the community from their official positions.

Too many times elected officials are accused of not acting in the best interests of the people.

But too often no one bothers to inform the officials just what is considered the "best interests".

The "Congress for Community Progress" on Feb. 13 presents a tremendous opportunity for the people of this community to make their feelings known on vital issues.

It will be unfortunate, if the general public does not take advantage of this opportunity.

But the enthusiasm that has been generated so far seems to indicate that the residents not only will welcome this chance to "sound off" but appreciate this opportunity of becoming better informed about their community.

We will see you, then, Feb. 13.

that the reason the accident-rate is so low at that particular intersection is that people are so cautiously traveling those streets and are so confused that they have time to avoid collisions even of the most minor variety.

-0-

BUT IT HAS BEEN confusing during the construction period.

And we speak as one who goes that route regularly.

One time, for example, while the big ditch-digger was doing its job at the intersection, we found the only way we could turn onto Campbell Ave. from Bascom was to scoot by the intersection and sneak up on it after making a U-turn down the road a piece.

It will be nice when the construction of the water line is completed and we get back to the every-day normalcy again of trying to make it across without getting clobbered.

Those ditches and stuff have cramped the style of some of the more aggressive characters who will bluff their way through regardless...And they have the dents to prove it.

SOME OF YOU may have been wondering what sort of complicated mayhem would take place when the ditch-digger and the construction starts across the Hamilton-Bascom intersection, the heaviest traveled piece of roadway in the county.

You will be happy to learn (as we were) that according to Bill Wren, Campbell's public works director, the pipe-line has already been laid under that particular vulnerable spot.

Bill explained that it was done some time ago and at night.

Wren's department is really not involved in this pipe-line job, except to see that Campbell's rights are protected.

It was at his insistence that the work at Hamilton-Bascom was done at night.

Those of you who have watched the cars go by during the day will understand why that was necessary.

Otherwise it would have been a traffic nightmare in broad daylight.

CAMPBELL'S first "Congress for Community Progress" scheduled for Feb. 13 should be one of the most outstanding programs ever presented in this community. It will give all of us a chance to get our teeth into problems and issues that affect us all but we have never gotten around to discussing them.

Approximately 50 interested citizens under the leadership of Larry Hill, high school superintendent, as general chairman, and Bob Stephens, city manager, as coordinator, are taking active parts in the planning of the program.

There will be seven panels on vital issues. Each will have a moderator, an expert and three interested members. Audience participation will be urged.

Recently when Larry was listing the moderators, he mistakenly named the Rev. Ben Gould, as handling the "traffic panel".

In immediately correcting Larry, Ben explained that his particular field in traffic only involved "the highway to Heaven", and not the streets of Campbell.

For the record, Ben heads the panel on "Campbell's image". Police Chief John Morgan will moderate the traffic panel.

COUNCILMAN BILL SMEED, who is now in his third year on the City Council, must have figured he was reading one of the back-back issues of The Press last week, say about five years or so ago.

In our Grace Hebard's "our town" column last week, Grace mentioned that Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smeed had recently celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary. In a parenthetical note Grace then added, "he is chairman of the Campbell Planning Commission."

Bill WAS chairman of the Planning Commission. But that was about five years ago before he was elected to the City Council.

We extend our apologies to COUNCILMAN Smeed for demoting him.

And to Bev and Bill on their 15th anniversary our belated congratulations.

THIS IS THE TIME of year when we all are forced to start thinking about income tax and other allied and equally unpleasant thoughts.

It is about now that the "W-2's" are issued that inform the wage-earner how much he made during the year and what his "deducts" totalled.

We think Lyle Ray, our semi-retired bookkeeper at The Press, set a new national speed record in the issuance of "W-2's" at our joint this year.

He had the "W-2's" completed and distributed with the final paychecks at our place on Dec. 30.

We claimed he rushed the season a wee bit. We are not going to look at ours until about March.

from a field of 16 candidates, the largest number ever to seek board positions in the history of the local C. of C.

Almost every segment of community life in Campbell is represented by the 15-man board that will govern the Chamber of Commerce during the next 12 months. There are eight hold-over directors and seven newly elected ones.

Before the board met in its organization meeting last week, the "old" board met in a special session and named Jim O'Brien, Campbell representative for PG&E, to the board in place of Richard Frothingham, local IBM plant manager, who had been transferred by his firm before he could take office.

O'Brien had been one of the candidates in the election and received a high vote. He had served previously as a director in 1960-62.

The eight hold-over directors include, Ken Mantle, of New York Life, who was appointed last year to fill the unexpired term of Kelley; Lind; Vierhus; Tony Bonaccorso, Bank of America, Hamilton branch; James Baker, attorney; Lee Sicard, Pacific Telephone; William Kuhlman, M.D.; and Meryl MacLean, MacLean's Mens Wear.

Among the seven new directors elected in December, was Bill Brown, of Campbell Office Machines, who served on the board the previous year. Other new directors include, Bullard; Harry Aho, manager of Breuner's; Laurance J. Hill, superintendent, Campbell Union High School District; the Rev. William H. (Ben) Gould, Campbell First Methodist; Donald Kennedy, manager, Campbell branch, Bank of America; and O'Brien.

Directors whose terms expired this year and who did not seek reelection include, Hardy; Oltmann; Elton Admire, Campbell Community Hospital; Dick Bersano, Villa Felice; John Faber, Campbell Memorial Chapel and Richard Andis, IBM personnel manager.

The "change in command" of the local Chamber of Commerce officially took place on Jan. 4 when the officers were elected. At that meeting both "old" and "new" directors met in a joint session.

Vice-president Lind is chairman of the installation dinner-dance on Jan. 27 and Jim Duffield, C. of C. manager, has urged members to return their invitations that were distributed last week as soon as possible. Duffield explains that just a few more than 200 can be accomodated at this affair and based on last year's successful event a full house is again expected.

off Winchester Blvd.

The street in those areas would remain the same width as present until the property owners can afford to set back their stores in order to provide the proper width for sidewalks, curbs and the four moving traffic lanes.

Councilman Rose, in opposing the adoption of Proposition No. 2 maintained that it would be better planning for the future to approve Proposition No. 3 (estimated cost $612,503).

Proposition No. 3 has been tabbed the "most dramatic" of the three plans and is highlighted by the cutting through of a new street north of Campbell Ave.

In voting for Proposition No. 2, Councilman Homer Hyde wondered if the people concerned had been adequately informed that in some sections there would be no parking on Campbell Ave. He thought maybe The Campbell Press should explain this matter further.

Mayor Ralph Doetsch reminded Hyde that The Campbell Press had given all three plans wide coverage and had published enlarged reproductions of all three proposition in a recent issue.

In adopting Proposition No. 2 the council also gave the green light and set the priority for the improvement of three other major thoroughfares in town.

The three projects include Hamilton Ave. ($75,000); Bascom Ave. ($94,400 plus owner cost of $15,000) and Winchester Blvd. ($110,500 plus owner cost of $5000).

The widening of Winchester Blvd. on the east side to the city limits under a local improvement district has already been approved by the council and Wren expects work to start in March of this year.

The financing of these improvements, Wren explained, will be done from gas tax revenues of which $237,810 is now available.

Wren said that the gas tax fund will be supplemented each fiscal year by approximately $170,000 with an estimated $50,000 of this amount to be used for maintenance.

He pointed out that the total cost to the city of the four major projects, including Campbell Ave., would be $425,828 and thus by the fiscal year of 1968-69 enough gas tax money would be available to finance them.

Before any work can be done on the actual widening of Campbell Ave., Wren added, storm drains will be installed and the utilities will be placed underground.

Thus the Campbell Ave. project, although approved in concept by the City Council Monday night, will not get underway until 1968-69.

Winter's cold and rain means you're spending more time indoors.

You're using more heat and cooking more hot meals.

You need more lighting.

City-college "relocatable" fight continues

The "Case of the relocatable classrooms" will get another airing next Monday, Jan. 16, before the Planning Commission.

Members of the Planning Commission and representatives of the college will make another attempt to come to a meeting of the minds on the troublesome question of the where and how of "relocatables".

In a marathon session last week at the hearing on the application of the college for a use permit to allow 14 more relocatable classrooms on the Campbell "temporary" campus, action on the issue was deferred until Jan. 16.

It was hoped that the two-week continuance would allow the air to clear a bit on the sticky question after the intense battle of words last week.

As has been the case in all previous meetings between college and city officials, the question of "temporary" was the focal point of the discussion last week. And chances are that more of the same will be the order of business next Monday. The city contingent is seeking a firm committment from the college as to whether a Campbell college site has a place in future plans other than just a receptacle for "relocatables".

But the governing board claims it is not yet in a position to take any such firm position.

Representing the college at the last hearing was Dr. Wallace Hall, college president; Gene Arnold, dean of campus facilities; Chester Higgins, architect and William J. Homan, governing board member.

All the commissioners, as well as Dick Hogan, planning consultant; Bill Wren, public works director and Joe Bonacina, city attorney, took part in the discussion to explain the city's point of view.

The use permit request of the college asks for 12 relocatable classrooms to be placed on the Latimer parking lot and two on the Rincon lot.

City officials concerned over the problem created by students on city streets suggested that most of the relocatables should be placed on the Rincon lot because this lot has more unused spaces than the Latimer lot.

But college officials argue that because of the problem of the students getting from Rincon to the main buildings, the Rincon spaces will never be as popular.

In an attempt to improve that situation, college officials have asked for additional crosswalks on Campbell and Winchester and improved signalization.

But Bill Wren, city public works director, takes a dim view of such suggestions. He maintains that such modifications would not solve the traffic problems but would complicate matters more.

At last week's meeting, although tempers flared at times, both sides expressed the desire to work out the problems amicably.

Dr. Hall, however, emphasized that there were a number of alternatives the college could use, provided the governing board by a two-thirds vote would exempt itself from city restrictions. One that he mentioned would be to convert the front lawn at Winchester and Campbell into a parking lot.

City Attorney Bonacina, however, pointed out that such a step might become slightly complicated because both classrooms and offices are involved.

The "two-thirds" approach, he claimed, applies only to classrooms.

Most of the commissioners specified that a delay in action seemed to be logical in order for the college in present a better picture as to what was Campbell's future in the campus plans.

Dr. Hall commented that the board had shown some interest in considering Campbell as a permanent campus but nothing yet had been determined.

Dean Arnold, while emphasizing that a delay in action by the Planning Commission could create a hardship, also conceded that such deferment could possibly develop a more optimistic outlook for both sides and could be of some value.

The motion to continue was made by Kel Young but it took two tries at it to get a second. It was carried but Thayer Lyons commented that he did not think the continuance would accomplish anything.

So the "Case of the relocatables" remains in an unsettled state, at least until next Monday.

Edward Panelli, Bruce Allen shift jobs on college boards

The board of trustees of West Valley College Thursday night re-seated former trustee Edward A. Panelli as a board member, and appointed his predecessor, Superior Judge Bruce F. Allen, as a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the college.

The board also heard a progress report on the development of the library on the present temporary Campbell campus, a report in which Hugh Hall, librarian, showed that the number of volumes in the library had increased from an estimated 3000 in 1964, when the school opened, to 13,241 at the end of 1966.

Civic leaders to hear fiscal report of city

Key civic leaders and other interested citizens have been urged by the City Council to attend a special informal session of the council at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 18, when the comprehensive financial feasibility report of the city will be explained.

John Vande Pol, of Schwabacher & Co., the firm that has developed the report, will be present to explain the many ramifications that are included.

The city contracted with Schwabacher for the financial study to determine the city's ability to finance a capital improvement program. It includes a projection of expected revenues and expenditures and a complete analysis of the city's fiscal picture.

Among those who have been asked to attend the meeting are local business and professional leaders, directors and members of the Chamber of Commerce.

City Manager Bob Stephens in announcing the completion of the report said that it is anticipated that its contents will act as a guideline.

Trailer court to "disappear" in two years

Campbell Trailer Court at 117 Gilman Ave., consisting of 17 cabins and trailer spaces will go out of existence in two years, as a result of a "compromise" ruling by the City Council on Monday night.

The city's building department, under Wallace Byron, building official, had recommended condemnation of the trailer court owned by Harold R. Strickland.

Strickland, through his attorney, Jack Dawson, while accepting the condemnation action had asked for a two year extension in order to "phase out" the demolition and avoid undue economic hardship.

In agreeing to the compromise, the council specified four basic conditions as recommended by City Attorney Joe Bonacina which Dawson accepted for his client.

These included: (1) That the garage at the rear of the office be demolished within 30 days; (2) That all 17 cabins shall be removed by the end of the second year; (3) That the owner will execute an admission that the cabins are condemnable under the building and housing codes and in the event of default the owner will not contest any action by the city; (4) That the owner shall post a $1000 performance bond which will be defaulted, if the conditions are not met.

Byron, in his recommendation to the council, had suggested that as each cabin became vacant they would be "posted" and not rerented and that eight of the cabins be removed within the first year.

Three continued hearings are on the agenda for next Monday's meeting of the Planning Commission.

One concerns the West Valley College request for relocatable classrooms (separate story) and another deals with the long-awaited ordinance amendments regulating signs in the city.

The third continued hearing is on the proposed zone change from M-1-S to C-2-S on properties on E. Hamilton Ave. on both sides of the freeway.

At the last meeting the commission approved signs for the 7/11 Food Store at 2223 S. Bascom (at Apricot) and for the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center.

Next Monday the commission has four more sign requests on the agenda; one for Baker Trailer Sales, 2105 S. Bascom; one for Sveden House, 1760 W. Campbell; one for Triple XXX Root Beer, 1555 Bascom and one for Flair Beauty Shop, 100 S. Gilman.

At last week's meeting, the commission also approved the request of Ken Norton for a zone change from R-2-S to C-2-S or P-D on property located at 2140 Winchester Blvd. and also a zone change from R-1 to R-2-S for R.E. Carnett for property located at 290 W. Rincon on which a multiple-unit is planned.

On next Monday, Robert Dodge has submitted a request for a zone change from R-2-S to C-2-S or C-3-S on property located at 55 N. Harrison Ave.

On the agenda also for next Monday is the request of R.W. Curry, for a use permit to allow a residence at 106 N. Third St., to be used for faculty offices for West Valley College.

At last week's meeting the Planning Commission adopted a resolution commending the work done so far on the plan submitted by the county for the development of the 10-acre Los Gatos Creek park

City staff gets raises

In a special City Council meeting last week, the council approved the new pay and classification schedule for city employees which allows approximately a 5% increase in all salaries.

The council also increased the salary of City Manager Bob Stephens from $1375 to $1500 per month and City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan from $825 to $850 per month.

In another action the council went on record by a 4-1 vote (Councilman Bill Smeed dissenting) opposed to a sales tax on food. The council directed that the four state legislators from this area be informed of the action.

Westmont wrestlers undefeated; Campbell elections Friday

Fire Deaths in the U.S.

NEW YORK—Approximately 12,000 persons lost their lives in fires in the United States during 1965, the Insurance Information Institute reports. More than one-half of these deaths occurred in homes and about one-third of these dead were children.

Campbell Crier

by DAVE TURNER

Student Body elections last Friday cut the field of candidates down in preparation for the final elections to be held all day on Friday, Jan. 20.

Running for Student Body President are Greg Lin and George Taniguchi, both senior councilmen. The loser of this election will be Student Body-Vice President for the next semester.

Also narrowed down in the voting, which brought only 38% of the student body to the polls, was the list of council candidates for the upcoming semester. Vying for the three soon-to-be-vacated seats will be John Brydon, Rocky Fagundes, Don Fox, Chuck Hawthorne, Mason Sacks, and Tim Sapp.

SOCK HOP

This Friday, Jan. 13, all nimble-footed Bucs will have a chance to display their talents at the Girls' Athletic Association's annual Sock Hop. Scheduled to start at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria, the big event will feature several prizes for the most uniquely adorned socks. Although the Hop promises to be fun and entertaining, it must compete with a home basketball game for attendance.

BASKETBALL

Campbell athletic teams saw a rather disappointing week as the campus sported only one winner in three events.

Coach Mike Sweeney's annual heart attack team, famous the past three years for taking each game to the final buzzer, squeezed out a narrow victory over Camden Friday in Soph-Frosh basketball action. Starting off as if to make the game a runaway, the little Bucs cooled down the second half and had to come from behind in the final two minutes to win 53-50.

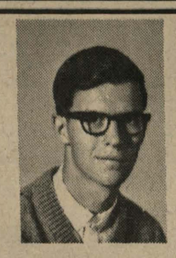
The Buc varsity also started off with a bang but was unable to recover when it too hit a second half cold streak. Like so many times already this season, the 59-44 final score does not suggest the fine efforts made by the Buc bouncers.

WRESTLING

Finding their arch-rivals, the Westmont Warriors, worthy of all the early season praise they've received, the Campbell wrestlers experienced a rough 35-15 loss last Friday on the Warrior's mats.

Looking ahead on the sports slate, we find Buc basketball teams at home Friday night against Saratoga, while the grapplers will travel to Del Mar in an afternoon affair. And next Tuesday, Jan. 17, the hoopsters will face Westmont on home ground, at 3:30 p.m.

Warrior World



by RUSS LONG

Things were a little slow around Westmont last week, due to the return from vacation.

But not everyone was slowed down. The basketball and wrestling teams, girls sports, and the newspaper and yearbook staffs all were busy.

Starting with the yearbook staff, they have been working hard to meet their deadlines for this year's book. Fifteen persons compose the staff, three students from each class, plus the two editors and Charles Ogden, yearbook advisor. Hopes are high for a better yearbook, and for those who remember, this year's cover will be different.

The newspaper staff is anxious to use the new headlines finally received at the district print shop at Del Mar. The new heads will add variety, and will enable all the district high school papers to try new styles.

Girls sports traveled to Camden to challenge in basketball and field hockey. Both teams lost, and I was asked not to repeat the scores.

Wrestling is very seldom talked about, or rather, very little publicity is given it. But now that the Westmont wrestlers have a 14 dual-meet win record, some publicity is due.

Coached by James Root, the varsity squad has yet to be defeated in 14 outings. At the Hollister invitational tournament over vacation, in which 22 schools competed, Westmont came home with first place. Last Friday afternoon, the team defeated Coach Rod MacDermott's team from Campbell.

BASKETBALL

Title-favored Del Mar raced to an 18-0 first quarter lead over host Westmont and then coasted to an 82-64 West Valley League opening game triumph.

The Warriors scored 45 points in the second and third quarters, but got no closer than eight points in the second half.

Bill Drozdiak led the Dons' scoring with 25 points and got support from Gary Radunich with 20.

Despite a scoreless first period, Westmont guard Roy Grillo came back in a vain effort to overtake the Dons and took top scoring honors with 35 points. Roy was supported with the 10 points sunk by Chuck Eades.

Spring sign-up begins for Campbell adult school classes

Campbell Adult School will sign up new students in each of the Campbell Area Adult Centers on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. during the month of January and the first week of February.

Classes for the Spring Semester start the week of Jan. 30, with a few exceptions, such as Real Estate Law which starts on Jan. 16.

New students are requested to go to the Adult Center at the following high schools; Campbell, Camden, Blackford, Del Mar, Leigh and Westmont on Monday, Tuesday or Thursday evenings for information and registration.

Approximately 140 courses are available for spring sign up, with new courses beginning in shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, business math, office machines, Russian, Spanish, Electronic Development, fabrics and household arts, oil painting, and others according to E.P. Stanley, director of adult education, Campbell Union High School District.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS

Slides of her recent trip to Europe will be shown by Mrs. Rene Montrezza at the next meeting of Blossom Valley Garden Club at Mrs. Montrezza's home, 14335 S. Bascom, Los Gatos, on Wednesday, Jan. 18 at 1 p.m. Mrs. Galen Thompson will be cohostess. Mrs. Ellison Hoey will preside. For more information, call 377-3334.

Farm Advisor will address Campbell 4-H

The next meeting of the Campbell 4-H club will be Friday, Jan. 13, 8 p.m., at Coventry Elementary School.

Ray Meisgeier, 4-H Farm Advisor, will address the group on the subject of the 4-H IFYE program. The International Farm Youth Exchange is a 4-H program in which a delegate is sent to a foreign country for the purpose of exchanging ideas.

There will be reports from the project groups. Demonstrations from clothing, foods and gardening groups will be presented. Plans for the forth-coming father-daughter night will be discussed. Songs and recreation will be a part of the evening's program.

Winners to be selected for B of A awards

Area junior colleges are currently in the process of selecting winners for Bank of America's 1967 Junior College Business Awards program.

Two top students at each participating school--one majoring in banking or business administration, the other in the secretarial or clerical fields--will receive a cash award of $300 and a certificate of merit.

Selected by members of their school's faculty, the winning students will be honored at a March 16 banquet at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. Awards are made on the basis of scholarship and participation in extracirricular activities.

In order to render additional financial assistance to the students, Bank of America is increasing the awards from $200 to $300 this year. There are no strings attached to the cash awards.

Area schools participating in the program include West Valley College and San Jose City College.

Camden Chatter

by JAN LOWDEN

Camden art teachers and students held their fourth annual Christmas Decorations and Art Show for the Security Savings and Loan Association. It was displayed on Dec. 12 and received favorable comment from the public.

Some of the students who contributed to the show were: Ron Hunter, John Garvey, Stacee McDaniel, Larry Greene, Claudia Blake, Brandy Burchfield, and Debbie Hartwell.

C.S.F. PLANS SNOW TRIP:

"We are trying to make this an annual event for the honor students," according to C.S.F. President John Garvey.

Members attended a meeting to discuss the possibility of making the trip to the snow. C.S.F.'ers are hoping to secure lodging in February either at Dodge Ridge or Squaw Valley.

CAMDEN STRINGS PERFORM:

The "Up Side Down" duet was one of the highlights of the day when nine Camden students entertained over 200 people at the Valley Village Retirement Home, Nov. 23. This duet is done when one student plays the piece right side up and the other plays it up side down. John Page and Lori Bender performed this duet.

These students are part of Camden's music department known as the "Camden Strings". The program was highlighted by James Jelincich, tenor, who sang, "Ave Maria". Other people who performed were: Dave White, Debby Houser, John Healy, Ann Scalia, Sharon David and Mileva Kuburovich.

TEACHER ADDS HER HELP:

One of Camden's teachers, Mrs. Cully Plant, is currently working not only for her classes but also aiding the poverty program. Mrs. Plant, one of Camden's homemaking teachers, has volunteered her services to the Economics Opportunity Commission. Every Wednesday from 3:30 to 5 she is teaching ladies to sew. Most of these women are unable to speak English. Mrs. Plant is helping these women develop sewing skills.

VARSITY IS VICTORIOUS:

Camden's varsity basketball team started the league season off right with a 59-44 win over Campbell on the Cougars court. The first game of the league season was played Jan. 6.

Campbell led into the second quarter with a slight lead of 17-16. But the Cougars led the board at the end of the first half with 31-29. At the end of the third quarter the Cougars held a 10 point lead of 45-35.

Butch Torres led the Cougars making a total of 14 points. He was aided by Larry North who also totaled 14 points. Other high scorers were: Bowen and Gasper with 7, and Paul Worsham and Stemel with 6.

PTA NEWS

BLACKFORD HIGH

One of the burning issues of the day, the draft, and how it affects high school seniors and their parents, will be the timely topic of discussion at the meeting of the Blackford High School PTA on Wednesday, Jan. 18 at 8 p.m. in the school cafetorium.

The meeting is the result of a questionnaire sent out to parents of all students in physical education classes.

Questions concerning the draft worrying parents will be answered by Mrs. Ann Cramer, former coordinator of the local Selective Service Board, and representatives of all branches of the armed forces.

Verdon Romer, principal of the school, said the PTA decided to sponsor the meeting after its president, George Wiggins, ascertained "great interest on the part of many parents in the requirements for fulfilling of military obligations" by their sons.

Korean girl to speak to Women's Society

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Campbell First Methodist Church will hold their next general meeting on Jan. 12. The meeting will begin in the Chapel at 9:30 a.m. with a devotional period. Following, at 10 a.m., will be the business meeting and program in the Fireside Room.

Miss Kyu Ok Lee, of Seoul, Korea will be the guest speaker. Miss Lee, an international Christian youth exchange student, makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Gaddis, and is presently a senior at Campbell High School.

She will speak about her home life, her education, and her church experiences in Korea. She will appear in costume and will perform some Korean Folk Dances for which she has been awarded prizes for her ability.

Following the program, at 12:15 p.m. a luncheon will be served by members of the Ruth Lang Circle.

College wives will attend concert

The first meeting of the new year will find the West Valley College Faculty Women and Wives at the West Valley College Auditorium, Thursday, Jan. 12 at 8 p.m. for an evening of music with John Tyers, vocalist.

Refreshments will be served afterward in the faculty lounge. Hostesses for the event are Madames Paul Graton, Lewis Dreyfous, Mac Martinez, Donald Stoner, and Miss Jane Raymond.

AUZILIARY MEETS

Mrs. Betty Smith of 124 Montclair Rd., Los Gatos, will be hostess to the Campbell Hospital Auxiliary on Thursday, Jan. 19 at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Harland Moore will announce plans for a workshop to make tray favors for Valentine's Day for patients at the hospital.

1 YEAR AGO

Campbell's controversial so-called "gas station control" ordinance is scheduled to face its long-awaited final test at the City Council meeting next Monday before a divided council.

Hal Lee was elected chairman of the Planning Commission for 1966 on Monday night. He succeeds Thayer Lyons. Jack Healey was named vice-chairman.

Whether two huge signs estimated to cost $10,000 will improve or detract from the aesthetic appearance of the old Clark Drugs building at Harrison and Campbell is the question the Planning Commission now has up for grabs after a marathon session Monday night

5 YEARS AGO

Bill Enochs, son of Mrs. L. C. Nye, and Allen Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson, have hiked through five countries in Europe since they landed in Luxembourg on Oct. 12.

Eugene W. Borden, 36, a captain in the Merced Fire Department with 15 years experience will become a captain in the Campbell Fire Department on Monday, Jan. 15, Fire Chief George Maxwell has announced.

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new John H. Breuner Co., furniture store that is to be built on Hamilton Ave., just off the freeway are scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday.

10 YEARS AGO

Campbell's new city hall will be dedicated this Sunday afternoon when residents, city officials, local clergy, service club representatives and county dignitaries take part at 2 o'clock in the dedicatory ceremonies at the City Hall, 75 N. Central Ave.

The Campbell Post Office handled 316,110 pieces of mail from Dec. 1 to 25, according to Postmaster Ira Grim. The figures include only outgoing mail. Top day was Dec. 18, when a total of 44,493 pieces were handled.

Campbell police report a relatively quiet New Year's in town. One lone burglary listed was that of Jimmy's Shoe Shop on E. Campbell Ave. Approximately $10 was taken from the till and $15 in stamps.

15 YEARS AGO

L. W. Harmon, general chairman of the committee for Campbell incorporation, issued an appeal this week for all eligible residents of the area to register for the special incorporation election before Jan. 17 registration deadline.

The Santa Clara County Planning Commission crossed swords Wednesday with the Elliott Corporation of Los Gatos and Adolph Leibfritz, when they initiated a move to rezone to residential property, land owned by both parties on the San Jose-Los Gatos Rd.

Reliable observers reported this week that a movement is afoot to incorporate portions of the Cambrian district.

Grass Roots

BARE ROOT SEASON

There's a nice thing about gardening in winter. You can take it or leave it alone. If the weather is unfriendly you simply stay indoors with a good book and let the garden go.

Let's hope the skies are more friendly than otherwise, however, for not only is it exhilarating to garden on a bright winter day but there are garden jobs which are better done in winter than in any other season. Like planting, for instance.

This is the season when many trees and shrubs are dormant, which means you can buy them bare root from local members of the California Association of Nurserymen. Bare root stock is less expensive since it can be transferred directly from growing grounds to you without being tubbed or balled. And since it is dormant, bare root stock transplants with a minimum of disturbance to the plant. It wakes up in your garden without knowing anything about the move that put it there.

Roses are the most widely planted bare root shrubs by a long shot. However big his rose garden, the rosarian always finds room for new varieties and these we have in abundance this year. There are no less than four new All America Rose Selections for 1967. Count them: two floribundas and one each of the hybrid tea and grandiflora classes. The floribundas are Gay Princess, a shell-pink beauty, and Roman Holiday, a brilliant orange-red. The grandiflora is Lucky Lady, a light pink daughter of the famous Charlotte Armstrong rose; and the hybrid tea is Bewitched, a fragrant clear pink, the first tea rose of this color to win AARS honors since Tiffany turned the trick back in 1955.

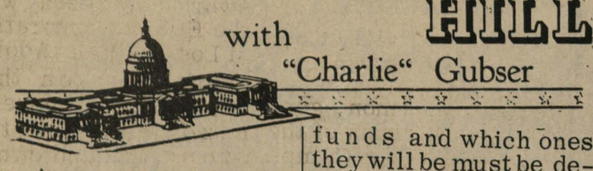
ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser



A massive struggle for priority in receiving limited federal funds is shaping up in these first days of the 90th Congress. Some Great Society programs are doomed because of a shortage of funds and which ones they will be must be decided in the next few months.

This week's ON CAPITOL HILL will make a cursory examination of two programs in Santa Clara County which have been federally funded. One is the program conducted by the San Jose Unified School District under the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA) to train licensed vocational nurses. The LVN shortage is acute and will soon reach crisis proportions since LVN's are an essential element of the convalescent homes which are increasing at an astounding rate since the passage of Medicare. The highly successful local program to train LVN's is in danger of being dropped next month because President Johnson has refused to allocate funds for it even though Congress has voted them. As of the end of last month the school district's desperate request for $141,000 had not been granted.

On the other hand, the California Self-Help Service Corps at Morgan Hill has fared much better. Through its parent organization, the National Center for Community Development in Del Rey, Calif., the Morgan Hill "school" got a federal grant of $246,836 on April 29 of last year for the purpose of giving "community leadership" training to 40 people who qualify as being in the poverty class. Each of the trainees received a subsistence allowance of $400 per month and 9¢ per mile when using his own auto in field work. Thirty-four actually completed their training in an old condemned school building north of Morgan Hill and are now back in their home communities doing field work under the supervision of five paid field supervisors. These supervisors receive a monthly salary reported to be about $750 plus expenses. Among them are Mr. Jim Cordray, reported to be a former employee of Cesar Chavez's National Farm Workers Association, Mr. Fred Hirsch, controversial labor leader who recently figured in a case involving liquor laws, and Mr. Manuel Chavez, cousin of Cesar Chavez. They are currently overseeing projects such as "self-help" housing in Salinas, a citizenship program in Watsonville, and the organization of welfare recipients in Modesto.

The three permanent members in Morgan Hill include a former worker on Indian reservations for the Society of Friends Service Committee, a former Federal Reserve Board economist who left Washington, D.C., to work with the Committee on Racial Equality (CORE) in Watts and Los Angeles, and a long-time employee of a labor newspaper, the VALLEY LABOR CITIZEN.

When I visited the center on Dec. 30 I was courteously treated. The research director in charge was cooperative, candid, and forthright in answering my questions and I was able to gain several impressions which will be the subject of a future column. Obviously the project cannot be fairly judged until the 34 "graduates" have been out in the field for a year or so. So it isn't possible to compare this program with one to train vocational nurses and rate one against the other. But in the coming tug of war for federal funds many difficult comparisons and evaluations will have to be made.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE — SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION — BAH-66041

Q. Do I have more than one chance to enroll for medical insurance?

A. Yes. But, if you do not enroll in your first enrollment period, you will have to wait until the last three months of the next odd-numbered year. Also, you will have to pay a higher premium and will not have coverage until six or nine months after you enroll.

Q. I recently divorced my husband who was receiving social security benefits. Since I was 65 at the time, I was also drawing wife's benefits on his account. At the time of our divorce, we had been married ten years, and a friend told me I could still qaulify on my former husband's account. Is this correct?

A. Unfortunately, your friend has given you incorrect information. It is true that if a woman is receiving benefits when the divorce takes place, she can continue to receive benefits on his account, but only if she and her husband had been married at least 20 years.

Q. I understand there are two parts to the new health insurance program and contributions will be collected for each. What happens to these contributions?

A. Two separate and distinct trust funds were established for the health insurance program: A Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund, into which the contributions of workers, employers, and self-employed people for the hospital insurance program will be placed; and a Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund, into which the enrollees' premiums, along with the Government's matching contributions, will be placed. The benefits and administrative costs of operating the two programs will be paid from these trust funds, beginning last July.

IN "THE MIKADO"--Taking leading roles in the Children's Operetta Guild's first production, "The Mikado" are (left to right) Doug Bedard, Kim Davis, Joani Cox and Kathy Hofer. The operetta will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, Jan. 13 and 14, in the Moreland School Multi-Purpose Room, at Saratoga and Payne Ave. at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Youngsters spend vacation time working on "Mikado" production

By Sally Howe

A back-to-school exercise that teachers frequently offer their students is a composition on "how I spent my vacation."

There are a variety of usual replies, from "I visited Aunt Clara" to "I didn't get to do nothing."

Quite a few Campbell area youngsters who spent a good portion of their summer and Christmas vacations in each other's company could come up with a rather unusual answer: "I spent my vacation rehearsing an operetta!"

These youngsters are members of the Children's Operetta Guild, who'll be trying their wings (or kimonos, in this case) on Jan. 13 and 14 in the Moreland School cafetorium.

Their pilot program is Gilbert and Sullivan's delightful operetta "The Mikado" with the title role being carried by 11 year old Kathy Hofer, a sixth grade student at Campbell School.

The comic opera was selected to be performed by the group's director, Mrs. Mathilde Done, a tiny gray-haired lady who has worked with children's groups for many years.

The youngsters spent a portion of their summer on twice-weekly rehearsals and during the second week of their winter vacation, rehearsed every single day.

The Guild hopes that the Mikado will be the first of many such operettas. A large number of the cast journeyed to San Francisco last summer to see a "real" performance of the Japanese comedy to help them put on a better show.

Cast members are discovering what it is like to portray a personality entirely different from their own. A case in point is that of Sherree Young, 11, 2268 Wren Way, who plays Katisha, the spurned love of hero Nanki Poo (David Ray, 13, 231 Rosalia Dr.). Sherree has had to learn to act like a grasping "older" woman, and the task hasn't been easy.

One of the "naturals" in the cast is Sherree's brother Mike, a student at Campbell High School, who wears the title "Lord High Everything Else."

Mrs. Thomas Young, mother of Mike and Sherree, has had the job of rounding up costumes for the group. Because of their varying sizes, she has ended up on the production end of a sewing machine for most of them.

Many of the properties have been constructed by patient parents. All the cast has pitched in to make their own scenery.

In the midst of the preparations, production has sometimes been slowed by conflicting school events, illnesses, and parent-planned vacations. Many of the opera's parts have been "double-cast such as that of Pitti-Sing, one of the "Three Little Maids From School" which is shared by Kim Davis, 11, 2036 Via D'Este, and Debbie Hannum, 13479 Alder Ct., Saratoga.

Double casting allows more children to participate, but also is essential so that production would not be halted should measles or mumps strike.

Local participants include: Doug Bedard, 2012 Via D'Este; Kathy Davis; Jenelle Jaffee, 1314 Piland; Dan Ray; Case Butterman, 2284 Maximilian Dr.; Cheryl and Tamara Pastor, 1015 Phelps Ave.; Bobbie Howe, 45 Budd; Nanette Fujishin, 403 California; and Elizabeth Hand, 1389 Garrans Dr.

Membership in the Guild is not to be restricted geographically and local members will be able to offer information about participation, as well as give additional information regarding the current show.

So, teacher, it's "at your own risk" that you offer that composition title to your classes--there may be a little "citizen of Japan" hiding in seat 3, row 2!

PROMOTED--Chief of Police John D. Morgan hands a sergeant's police badge to James M. Connelly, who has been promoted to that position as the result of a competitive examination. Connelly, a veteran of six years with the Department, has been assigned to the Patrol Division. He is a graduate of Loyola University with a degree in Sociology.

Moreland District may add classrooms to four schools

The Moreland School District Board of Trustees is considering adding four classrooms to each of the following schools: Anderson, Coventry, Easterbrook, and El Quito Park.

These plans are in keeping with the Board's previous record of planning its school buildings well in advance. As a result they have been able to have school rooms where they are needed by the time they are needed. Much double-sessioning has been almost completely avoided by the Moreland School District.

Moreland has just completed a projected pupil-increase study for the next five years with corresponding building plans.

The Board has also approved plans for next summer's schooling. It will be a five week session, beginning Monday, June 26 and ending on Friday, July 28. The daily schedule will be from 8 a.m. to 11:40 a.m. All children who live in the district and who are currently enrolled in grades one through seven are welcome to attend.

Council rejects police car bids

Because all eight bids submitted for a city police car were higher than the price offered by the state, the City Council Monday rejected them and directed City Manager Bob Stephens to negotiate with the state for the purchase of a car.

Stephens said that the price of a Ford sedan purchased through the state would be $2308.54.

The eight bids from concerns in the county ranged from a low of $2551.90 to a high of $2807 with the trade-in price of the 1960 Ford ranging from $25 to $150. The state offers $100 for the 1960 Ford.

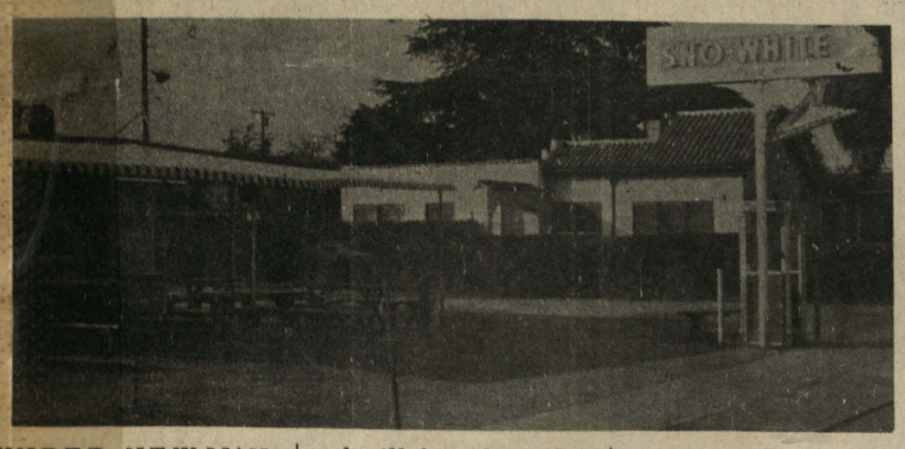
NEWS ABOUT LOCAL BUSINESSES, AND BUSINESS PEOPLE



UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT--The Sno-White Drive-in, 116 E. Campbell Ave. (across from the Bank of America), is now under a new lease-managership, with Frank and Mabel Charles. Many customers will recall Mabel, as a former waitress-employee, and will be pleased to meet her help-mate, Frank, who is a "great qucik-order Chef". Mabel and Frank were married last December, and settled down to business at the Sno-White Drive-in, along with Calvin Dixon, who is Frank's right-hand-man, and "relief".

Although the drive-in is now open, and doing business as usual, the grand opening event has been slated for Monday, Jan. 16. Come-and-get-it...there'll be free cokes with any order on that day... Remember...Monday, Jan. 16!

FOUR BARBERS...NO WAITING!--The Custom Barbershop, 1780 Winchester Ave., across from Lee Bros. Market, is now under the tender management of Bettye Brown, and her "three clippers", Larry, Bill, and Leroy. You can meet them all (several old customers will recognize the names...and their pictures are in an advertisement elsewhere in this edition), any day in the week at their "chairs". Pretty Bettye, is well known in the area, and men, women, and children will be happy to know that she is looking forward to "serving you" with three men, with scissors at-the-ready!

Everyone does. It's spiritual, it's demanding, exciting, and it's invariably good . . . It brings new discoveries of what God is, and what man really is—finding fulfillment in a life directed by divine Love. Hear this one-hour lecture "You Have a Purpose" by JOSEPHINE H. Police Dept. to hold another class

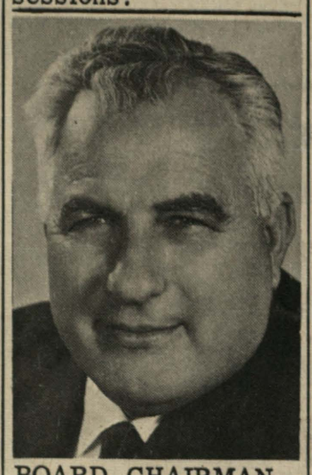
Another of the continuing programs to promote the understanding and relationships between law enforcement and the citizens they serve will be given on Thursday, Jan. 19 at 7 p.m. at the Campbell City Hall.

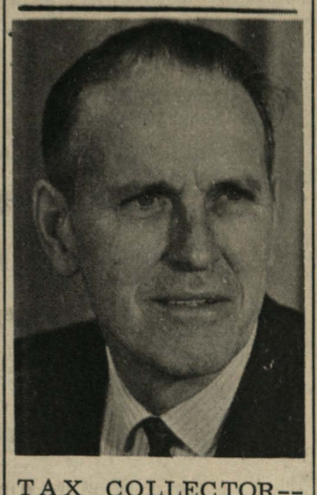
Anyone who would like to know more about the law as it affects them personally, or when an officer can or cannot take certain actions, should attend. This program is open to the public and has been well received in its previous sessions.

Briefly the program is in two segments: a three hour classroom discussion on the law enforcement and three hours with a patrolman as he makes his rounds and performs his duties.

The Police Department and Chief John D. Morgan feel that both law enforcement and the citizen can benefit, and that the citizen will find it a very rewarding experience.



BOARD CHAIRMAN--Supervisor Sam P. Della Maggiore, of the second district which takes in one section of Campbell, has been elected chairman of the Board of Supervisors for 1967. Della Maggiore, 55, is serving his fifteenth year on the board and this marks his fourth term as chairman.. He is a native of Santa Clara Valley and is a rancher and lumber firm operator and a former teacher.



TAX COLLECTOR--Leonard E. Engeman, 60, has been appointed County Tax Collector by Edward N. Glaeser, county finance director. Engeman replaces Louis A. Running dogs create problem

For the past several months the Campbell Police Department has been conducting a warning program concerning the allowance of dogs to run loose. The City of Campbell has an ordinance which prohibits any person to allow a dog not on a leash to be off that person's property.

It should be recognized that these animals do frequently create hazardous conditions both to pedestrians and vehicular traffic. The Police Department earnestly solicits the cooperation of all citizens to abide by this law in order to make the city a safe and more pleasant place to live.
